

Forensic economic examination as a tool against economic crime under martial law in Ukraine

Inessa Ovsianynkova^{1,*} and Iryna Hubanova²

¹Leading researcher of the Forensic Economic Research Sector of the Laboratory of Forensic Economics, Commodity Examinations and Intellectual Property Analyses at NSC «Hon. Prof. M. S. Bokarius Forensic Science Institute», Kharkiv, Ukraine; ORCID: 0000-0002-3351-7781

²Head of the Forensic Economic Research Sector of the Laboratory of Forensic Economics, Commodity Examinations and Intellectual Property Analyses at NSC «Hon. Prof. M. S. Bokarius Forensic Science Institute», Kharkiv, Ukraine; ORCID: 0000-0002-7981-0545

Erratum

In the article “Forensic economic examination as a tool against economic crime under martial law in Ukraine” by Hubanova Iryna and Inessa Ovsianynkova, published in Socrates, Vol. 31, No. 2 (2025), pp. 62–69, DOI: <https://doi.org/10.25143/socr.32.2025.2.62-69>, the author's surname was incorrectly written as Gubanova.
The correct spelling is Hubanova.

* Corresponding author: inessa_ovs@ukr.net

Open Access. © 2025 Ovsianynkova and Hubanova, published by Riga Stradins University

 This work is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 4.0 License.